

View this email in your browser

Is Your Old Mercury or Metal Dentistry Affecting Your Health?

It could be! For years, doctors used mercury & metals in dentistry, which may have a negative impact on your physical health over time. While mercury fillings, also called amalgam fillings, are still in use by many dentists in the US, they are actually banned in many countries around the world!

In addition to the health repercussions, old metal dentistry can have an adverse affect on the look of your smile, too. We've all seen those smiles full of silver fillings—some of us may even still have one. If you're wondering how we can improve your smile, this is a great place to start. Besides, even if your current dental work isn't broken or falling out, it may still be failing you!

Here at Rochester Advanced Dentistry, we proudly offer mercury and metal-free dentistry, ensuring the best for your dental health and your smile. We invite you to talk with us to learn how our advanced approach to dentistry can help you obtain the smile of your dreams!

Dr. Jeff Haddad & Dr. Nina Daws

Even if your dental work isn't broken or falling out, it may still be failing you.

CALL TO LEARN MORE

You deserve the best. Get expert care from those who teach the experts.

Copyright (C) 2025 Rochester Advanced Dentistry. All rights reserved.

Our mailing address is:

Want to change how you receive these emails?
You can update your preferences or unsubscribe